

OralID was created with the vision to create a simpler, efficient and more affordable oral screening device that can save more lives.

OralID uses the same proven fluorescence technology as other oral exam devices, but costs up to fifty percent less than its closest competitor (and only one-third of another competitor). However, unlike any other device on the market, OralID has no per-patient cost during use.