

All American Wallpapering Completes Work at Camp Pendleton Marine Base

MURRIETA, CA, Aug. 27, 2013 – All American Wallpapering, Inc. has completed a large-scale project for the Marine Corps Base Camp Pendleton involving the facility's Martial Arts building, Range Support building and a warehouse.

“The scope of the job involved many layers of government approvals and clearances,” said All American Wallpapering, Inc., President and CEO Greg McAllister. “We are pleased to announce the U.S. Marine Corps did sign off on the completed work.”

The project scope included installation of photo murals depicting Marines in various situations. Historic and current-day images were used on the many murals.

The project took approximately one week to complete.

“We were on a tight deadline. The military was very strict, but fair, in its requirements on the project,” McAllister explained. “All American Wallpapering was one of many subcontractors hired for the job that included opening new buildings and remodeling others.

“Installing murals can be tricky, and that is where experience and rapport with mural manufacturers pays off,” McAllister continued. “It also helps that our company met rigorous government requirements, including a specialty California license for wallpaper work, scissor-lift certification, general liability insurance, and bonding. Government officials also conducted company personnel background checks and they required details on the types of tools and safety gear we used. We were also required to attend a safety course.”

For more than 30 years, All American Wallpapering, Inc. has been serving the residential and commercial markets throughout Southern California. Services include wallpaper installation, wallpaper removal, wallpaper repair, wallpaper sales, and painting. The company is licensed, bonded, and carries $2 million in general liability insurance.
