

Asbestos Awareness Training

Asbestos awareness training is very useful to companies whose employees are likely to be exposed to asbestos on their job sites or at their places of business. E.I.C.S. can tailor the training program to be job/work place specific. In our training we discuss the history of asbestos, its characteristics, its uses, the health effects, how to recognize when an asbestos containing material may become hazardous, how to respond when the hazard has been discovered, and who may handle the material. A training class typically lasts 2 hours, and includes visual aides including a video and photographs.

The students will be tested on the subject matter at the completion of the class and individual certificates of training will be generated. Please note that this training is intended only for the purposes of making employees aware of what materials may be asbestos containing and does not meet requirements for anyone to become licensed in asbestos abatement or consulting.
